Native Plants provided by the City of Redmond

The purpose of the project is to clean-up and re-plant the retention pond at 166th with native shrubs and ground cover that will:

- reduce maintenance,
- help control erosion,
- improve the function of the storm water pond, and
- provide a more attractive natural element in the neighborhood.

Pacific Northwest Native Plants that may be used in the project include:

against the fence...

evergreen huckleberry
thimbleberry
salmonberry
hazelnut
elderberry
baldhip rose
vine maple
Indian plum

along the path...

Mahonia
native rose Snowberry
red flowering current closer to the water's edge...

twinberry
dogwood
viburnum
bullrush
